Liner Will Steam Back To International Waters

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—A Brazilian admiral told the U.S. Navy Caribbean commander the liner Santa Maria reportedly will steam back into international waters after discharging her captive passengers at Recife today.

A Brazilian admiral was quoted as saying the Santa Maria reportedly would head for the high seas after the unloading of passengers. That word reached U.S. Atlantic Fleet headquarters from its Caribbean command.

$1 Minimum Wage Bill To State House

Old Controversy To Be Renewed By Ames' Plan

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—A bill to set a $1 an hour minimum wage reached the Missouri House today, promising a renewal of an old controversy.

Rep. Joseph L. Ames, D-St. Louis, often a spokesman for union labor, introduced the measure. The $1 wage floor would apply to workers over 18 in industry and business within the state.

Interstate industries would be exempt. So would agricultural workers.

Similar bills have been defeated repeatedly in the past.

With snow piling up on the highways, House membership dwindled rapidly on this final legislative work day of the week. The Senate recessed Wednesday.

Before quitting work the House advanced bills to give the chief clerks of the secretary of state and the state auditor the title of deputy at no increase in salary.

Other bills would:

Set up a $10,000 a year state fire marshal under a five-man Public Safety Commission and authorize him to set broad fire safety standards. Similar legislation failed last session.

Exempt the value of a pensioner's home in figuring his eligibility for old age assistance, estimated to cost up to $1.5 million a biennium.

Raise maximum workmen's compensation death benefits from $15,000 to $18,000.

Raise the pay of county judges in third class counties from a $15 to $20 a day and in fourth class counties from $10 to $20. Mileage allowances would go up from 7 to 10 cents a mile.

Transfer unused money in the driver's license fund to highway funds.

Let local government employees join group insurance plans and use public funds to pay the premiums.

A bill to set up a bracket system for collecting the state sales tax won preliminary approval in the House yesterday.

Early Hour Dispute Ends In Stabbing

A dispute between Paul Williams, Jr., 31, 409 West Clay, and Birdie Crockett, 34, 431 North Osage, ended in the Crockett woman getting hit over the head with a chair and Williams suffering three ice pick stab wounds, about 12:40 a.m. Thursday.

Williams condition was reported serious early Thursday morning while the woman suffered a laceration on the top of her head about four inches long which necessitated 12 stitches to close.

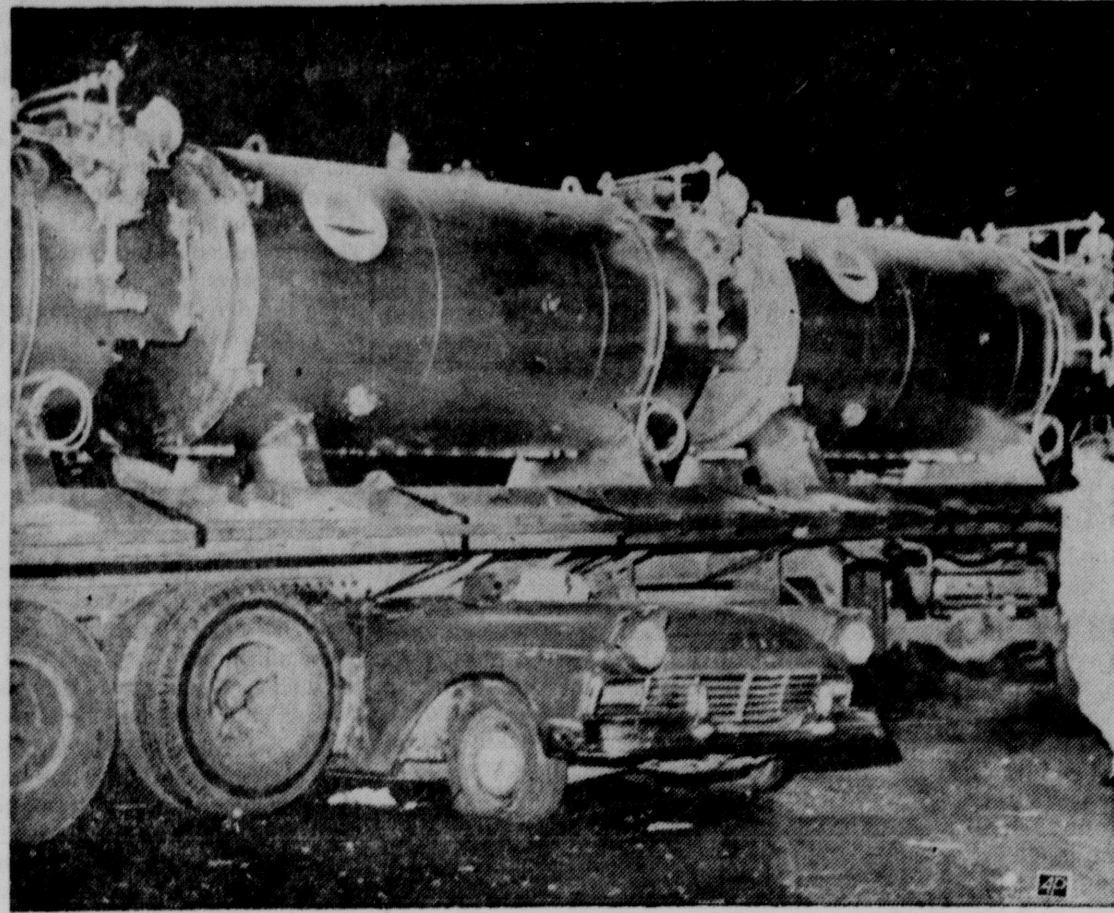

The stab wounds were on the left side of the chest and were believed to have been deflected from going into the heart by a rib.

According to the woman she believed she was hit over the head with a chair while in the Harlem Club, North Kentucky and the railroad. She said she was sitting at a table with some friends when she was struck twice.

It was reported she left the place and returned later with the ice pick, approached Williams and stabbed him three times. Outside the place when police arrived she attempted to get rid of the ice pick by throwing it up on an awning, but it rolled off into the street and was recovered by officers.

The two were taken to the Bothwell Hospital where Dr. A. R. Maddox treated Williams, and Dr. Carl Siegel attended the woman.

In the Congo

Would End Army's Political Moves

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld has asked the U.N. Security Council for authority to curb the Congolese army's activity in politics as a first step to prevent the Congo from exploding into civil war.

Adlai E. Stevenson, appearing as the Kennedy administration's chief delegate to the council for the first time, told the session Wednesday he was not prepared to comment. He indicated he would speak later in the week.

But Hammarskjöld's request appeared headed for rough sledding from the Soviet Union, which has been assailing the secretary-general for months and has refused to vote him new powers even in less controversial fields.

The council scheduled a morning session to continue its latest Congo debate, which is likely to take up the rest of the week.

Without giving up his policy of neutrality for the U.N. force in Congo domestic affairs, Hammarskjöld insisted that he must be allowed to reorganize the Congo army, which he said has been taking sides in the warfare between President Joseph Kasavubu and forces supporting deposed Premier Patrice Lumumba.

The council also heard a demand from the United Arab Republic that Lumumba be freed from jail and that Belgian military men alleged to be in the Congo be ousted.

Hammarskjöld's policy of not allowing the U.N. force to interfere in the domestic affairs of the Congo is under attack from the pro-Lumumba group, from the Belgians, from Kasavubu and from provincial premiers. Each wants the U.N. force to take action against the others.

Most of the initial Congo session was given over to statements welcoming Stevenson.

Ritzenthaler Is Secretary Of State Fair

Ervin's Successor Held This Same Job From 1955 to 1957

W. H. "Chubby" Ritzenthaler has been named to succeed M.C. "Colie" Ervin as the Secretary of the Missouri State Fair, according to an announcement by Victor "Vic" Gray, acting Commissioner of Agriculture for Missouri. The appointment of Ritzenthaler takes place immediately as Ervin's resignation became effective as of Jan. 31.

Ritzenthaler is no stranger to Sedalia, having served in the capacity of Secretary of the Fair from Aug. 1955 until Ervin was appointed by Gov. James T. Blair, Jr., in 1957. He succeeded the late Ross Ewing of Mexico, who died unexpectedly in August, 1955, just before the fair of that year, and until taking over the duties as Secretary he was the chief clerk of the fair.

After leaving Sedalia in 1957 Ritzenthaler became chief clerk in the office of Attorney General John Dalton. He served in this capacity until his appointment for the fair was announced by Gray Tuesday evening.

Attorney General Thomas F. Eagleton, who assumed the office the first part of January, had re-appointed Ritzenthaler to the office of chief clerk. The appointment as secretary of the fair came through the wishes of now Gov. Dalton.

Mr. and Mrs. Ritzenthaler are expected to come to Sedalia within the next few days and will reside at Fair Acres, the residence of the secretary of the fair on the fair grounds.

Joblessness Rise Listed As Increased by 900,000

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy today handed Congress a sweeping anti-recession program built on faster federal spending, higher old age pensions and an emergency extension of unemployment pay.

Kennedy's tightly-packed 7,500 word special message brought the news that joblessness rose by 900,000 in January to a total of 5.4 million.

The President said he would submit further proposals to Congress within 75 days if business does not improve.

His message spoke of the general expectation that there will be "minor improvements" in business this year. But he added "speaking out of realism, not pessimism, we cannot rule out the possibility of further deterioration if we fail to act."

Kennedy predicted his economic proposals would "abate the waste and misery" of unemployment and "restore momentum to the American economy." He said they would not, by themselves, unbalance the $80.9-billion budget unveiled last month by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Yet Kennedy did not provide Congress with cost estimates of any of his proposals today as he:

1. Called for quick approval of higher Social Security benefits for some 4½ million Americans, including a $10 boost in the minimum monthly pension; a two-step, two-year increase in the $1 minimum wage to $1.15 and then $1.25 an hour; a speed up in federal contract-letting and construction; government aid to depressed areas; federal relief payments for the children of jobless fathers;

2. Announced executive actions—beside those disclosed in his news conference Wednesday—to stimulate credit, release $724 million of highway funds to the states at once, and start a quickie expansion of urban renewal, local public works and college housing.

3. Disclosed he shortly will send Congress tax reform proposals to spur business investment and close tax loopholes; and another message demanding permanent measures to "revise and strengthen" the unemployment compensation system—presumably by setting some form of federal standards for the states—and to extend the coverage to "several million" more workers in the retail and other trades.

JFK Moves To Combat Economy Lag

Rules Out Tax Cut As Means to Deal With Economy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Without waiting for Congress to act on his anti-recession program, President Kennedy has moved on three fronts to spur the lagging economy and relieve hardship.

At a news conference Wednesday, Kennedy ruled out any tax cut at this time as a means of dealing with the slump. But he announced he has taken these steps designed to brighten the picture:

More than $250 million in G.I. insurance dividends will be paid out this winter instead of spreading the payments through the year as planned originally.

The maximum interest rate on FHA-insured mortgages is being cut. The reduction is from 5½ percent to 5½ in a move to encourage home buying and building.

An experimental stamp plan to provide free food for the needy is being put into effect in some areas of the worst chronic unemployment. These are West Virginia, Pennsylvania, southern Illinois, eastern Kentucky and one other section to be specified later.

Kennedy took these actions under executive authority—in advance of sending to Congress today an economic recovery program which will require approval by the legislators before it can be put into effect.

At his second session with newsmen since taking office, the new president volunteered these announcements at the start of the conference. He also disclosed he has repealed former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's controversial order cutting back the number of dependents living overseas with servicemen. Eisenhower issued the order in a move to reduce expenditure of dollars abroad.

WAFB Paper Takes Honors In Contest

The Whiteman Air Force Base newspaper, The Skywriter, published in The Democrat-Capital plant, was named Thursday as the best base newspaper in its class in the U.S. Air Force 1960 worldwide base newspaper contest.

The Skywriter is considered a Class II newspaper, based on the population of the base in which it is published. The Air Force contest was judged in five classes with no overall winners being named.

Earlier this year The Skywriter was selected as the best paper in its class in the Strategic Air Command and as the best overall paper in the Second Air Force, a major SAC sub-command.

The newspaper is currently edited by A-1c Basil R. Adams.

In 1960 three different editors were at the paper's helm. Until mid-April William D. Hill, news editor of The Sedalia Democrat, was the editor. From April to September the editor was S-Sgt. Loren B. Leonberger, Parma, Mo., now stationed on Formosa. Adams took the reins in September.

The Skywriter is a civilian enterprise paper published in the interest of Whiteman personnel by The Sedalia Democrat-Capital Co. and is an unofficial weekly publication.

From Two Angles

Record State Budget Comes Under Attack

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—Gov. John M. Dalton's record budget came under attack from two angles today. Sentiment appeared to be growing for a sales tax increase to replace his "package plan" for a needed revenue.

In the House, Republican and Democratic leaders teamed up late Wednesday to criticize the budget and the way it has been presented. They charged the governor was trying to make rubber stamps out of them.

Today a taxpayer's organization said the governor's revenue estimates would not produce the necessary money. The Missouri Public Expenditure Survey came out instead for a sales tax increase.

That has been opposed by the governor as putting too heavy a burden on small taxpayers. It has been endorsed by the State Chamber of Commerce and many legislators.

The House revolt broke into the open with both Republicans and Democrats joining in criticism of the Democratic governor's budget plans for the next two years.

Rep. R. J. King, R-St. Louis County, said he resented being asked to rubber stamp the ideas of others.

King, once chairman of the Appropriations Committee, was joined by the present chairman, Rep. Paul M. Berra, D-St. Louis.

The governor had no comment about the House criticism.

No Shadow

If any groundhogs stuck their heads out of holes in Sedalia today, it's a cinch they didn't see any shadows.

Snow and colder tonight with an additional accumulation of 1 to 3 inches; considerable cloudiness and continued cold Friday. Low tonight 10-15; high Friday 20-26.

The temperature Thursday was 22 at 7 a.m. and 23 at 1 p.m. Low Wednesday night was 21; with 1½ inches of snow—19 inches of moisture.

The temperature one year ago today was, high 48, low 33; two years ago, high 25, low 6; three years ago, high 25, low 12.

Lake of Ozarks stage: 54.0 feet, 6.0 below full reservoir; no change.

Groundhogs Out of Holes For a Peek

QUARRYVILLE, Pa. (AP)—Three observers today reported groundhogs came out of frozen holes, and saw their shadows, indicating six more weeks of winter according to folklore.

Robert W. Herr, chairman of the slumbering Groundhog Lodge of Quarryville, reported that a groundhog emerged and saw his shadow.

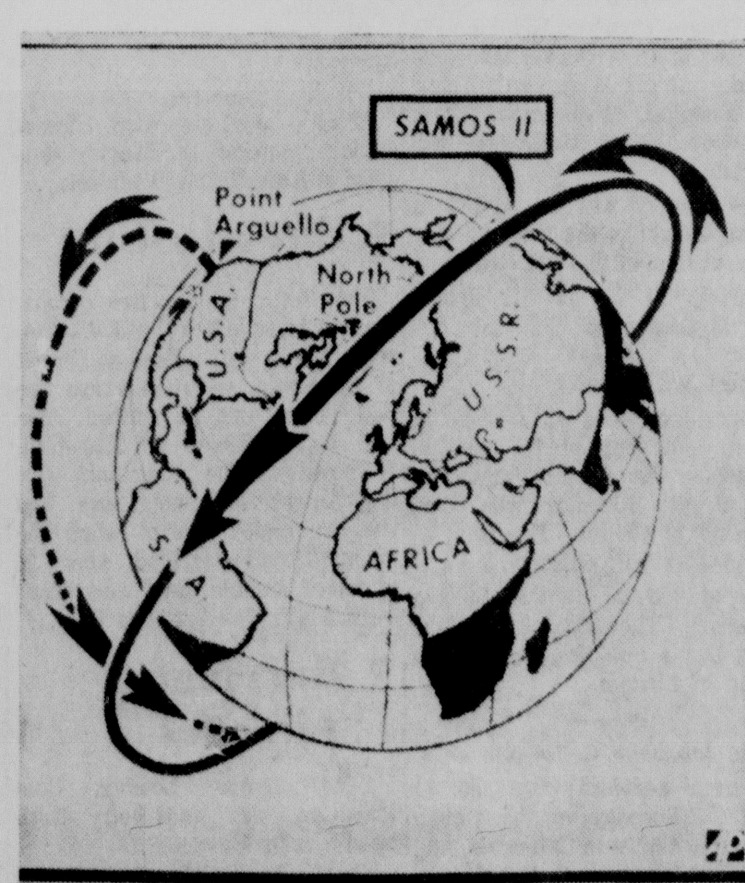

The groundhog was spotted by scout Jack Lefever, one of more than 50 members of the lodge out looking, in nearby Colerain Township.

With tongue in cheek, Lefever reported that when the groundhog came out of its hole it was carrying a Harvard diploma. Lefever said the groundhog explained that was the only way you can get anywhere.

Fred Ulmer, curator of mammals at the Philadelphia Zoo, said a groundhog named "Hammy," official forecaster for the last four years, saw his shadow about the same time.

Neither the cold nor subfreezing temperatures deterred the Quarryville lodge from coming out today. They shed their dignity and decorum for highjinks in the open. They put on silk hats, white robes over their coats, heavy, ornate chains and keys of office and began their work well before dawn.

No Traffic Deaths In 6 Counties

There were no traffic deaths in six Missouri counties last year, but nevertheless, the traffic toll in rural areas of the state soared to 834 people killed.

The 1960 rural Missouri traffic toll was the highest recorded by the State Highway Patrol since 1957 when 848 people were killed.

The six counties to miss having a traffic fatality last year were: Dade, Harrison, Hickory, Moniteau, Schuyler and Shannon. Dade was the only county with a two-year record of no traffic deaths as the other five suffered at least one fatality in 1959.

Counties near urban areas registered the highest road toll last year. Fatalities in St. Louis county jumped to 65 compared to 51 in 1959. It was the same story in Jackson county as the toll shot up to 38 deaths compared to 23 in 1959. The Jefferson county toll decreased last year dropping to 20 fatalities compared to 37 in 1959. Two other counties suffered 20 traffic deaths last year. They were Pemiscot and St. Charles.

The State Patrol reports that in addition to the counties with 20 or more fatalities, there were 19 other counties that recorded between 10 and 20 highway deaths. They were: Boone, 16; Buchanan, 12; Butler, 17; Callaway, 13; Cass, 16; Clay, 15; Dunklin, 16; Franklin, 16; Greene, 17; Jasper, 14; Lafayette, 19; Lincoln, 15; New Madrid, 17; Newton, 16; Nodaway, 12; Pettis, 13; Platte, 11; Pulaski, 16; and Texas, the state's largest, suffered 17 traffic deaths last year.

The 1960 traffic toll in rural areas of the state consisted of 411 drivers, 333 passengers, 86 pedestrians and two bicycle riders. The two bike riders were both children eight and 12 years of age. One was struck by a motor vehicle on a county road in Butler county and the other was killed on Highway 50 in Pettis County.

Highway Work Complicated By Pay Demands

The improvement of Route WW, temporary state highway extending north from Windsor into Johnson County and tying in with Route D, has been complicated by demands for payment by certain parties involved. President Loyd Harvey of the Windsor Chamber of Commerce stated Wednesday.

Two landowners have offered to give land needed for the permanent state road but are asking to be reimbursed for having to move their fences.

It was estimated the costs for moving about 29 utility poles would be between $30 and $60 each.

Unless payment of these costs and all others involved in improving the road are guaranteed, the State Highway Department is likely to drop its temporary designation and turn the road back to Johnson County for maintenance, Harvey stated.

A representative of the State Highway Department district office in Kansas City was here this week discussing the problem.

The cost of relocating the road could run between $2,000 and $5,000.

The Windsor Chamber has been assisting in road improvements in the Windsor area but costs have been small compared to those foreseen on Route WW.

Has His Own 'Open House,' Escapes Jail

"We haven't seen hide nor hair of him."

These were the words Thursday morning of Deputy C. E. Arnold, assistant to Henry County Sheriff Wilbur Schmidt at Clinton, in reference to Marine Pvt. Robert M. Taylor, 17, who escaped from the Henry County jail last Friday.

Deputy Arnold said there were no leads on Taylor's whereabouts. The youth is also absent without leave from the Marine base at San Diego, Calif.

Sheriff Schmidt and Deputy Arnold apprehended Taylor last Thursday afternoon on a pickup order from the Marines which stated he had escaped the depot brig at San Diego. The Henry County officers nabbed the youth about an hour after the request was received.

But the slippery Taylor evidently didn't look with favor upon being a jail resident during an open house which was scheduled for Sunday afternoon, so he took off on Friday evening, well before the jail showing got underway.

Deputy Arnold linked a car stolen about the time of Taylor's escape with the youth as a scant lead. The car, parked on the streets a short distance from the jail, belonged to Henry County Prosecuting Attorney Floyd Sperry, Jr. The car is still being sought.

Taylor was permitted the freedom of the second floor jail corridor to take a shower, which proved a mistake. He crawled through a window and dropped 12 feet to the ground and fled. A blanket torn in strips and tied together was left behind.

A Henry County grand jury last month recommended mesh wire or bars be put over the jail windows. The recommendation has been considered by the county court. Judge John Harris stated Tuesday, but because of the high cost no action has been taken yet. Sheriff Schmidt and Deputies Arnold and Francis Knifong, with the assistance of area state troopers, are staging the manhunt for Taylor.

BUOYANT BASE—As a solution to the safe launching of huge chemical or nuclear-powered rockets of the future, a floating sea base has been proposed. Designed by Aerojet-General Corp., it is called "PROF" (Planetary Rocket Ocean Platform). Drawing shows a 300-foot nuclear rocket ready for launching. The platform is well above the waves and is supported by an underwater buoyant chamber. A submarine is used to evacuate personnel through an air lock after a nuclear firing. PROF is designed to have good stability, even in a hurricane.

Gas Thefts Continuing In Windsor

Thefts of gasoline from parked cars, both in town and in the rural areas at Windsor, are continuing with three reporting losses in the past week.

In addition to the loss of gasoline siphoned from a tractor, Jesse Dove suffered the loss of a police dog given to him New Year's day. The one-year-old dog was found dead Tuesday morning in a ditch along the driveway from the yard out to the road. It's head had been bashed in.

Dove said he heard the dog growl and bark about midnight Monday night but since it did not continue he thought nothing of it. When he dog failed to show up at the back door to accompany him to the barn to do chores, Dove became concerned. Later when he started searching for it he found the dead dog and also a five-gallon gasoline can lying beside his mail box along the road.

The dog cornered a Negro reportedly from Sedalia in the garage at night only a few days after being given to the Doves. The intruder was turned over to authorities in Pettis County.

Robert Coit lost an undetermined amount of gasoline siphoned out of the gas tank on his car Monday night. The car was parked in front of his home on Tebo street in Windsor. Mrs. Coit heard a noise out in front and looked out in time to see a car speed away. Apparently the can of gasoline taken from Coit car turned over as the spilled gasoline could be traced about town. Relief officer Albert Stiles attempted to follow the trail but never caught up with the car.

All the gasoline was reported stolen from the tanks on cars belonging to H. M. Farley, 407 East Florence street, and T. G. Hall, 700 South Tebo street, last Thursday night.

The police blotter shows that Wednesday night two Sedalia residents requested protection. A Mrs. Glover, 215 South Quincy, reported prowlers in the area of her home, and a Mrs. Adams, 2419 Greenwood, reported someone had made several threatening telephone calls to her home. Both asked police to watch their homes.

Wednesday afternoon Chester Laws, 1307 West Third, reported to police that someone had taken a five-gallon gasoline can containing about three gallons of gasoline from his garage.

The CAB wiped out this service and awarded to Central Airlines of Fort Worth a St. Louis-Tulsa route, with stops at Springfield and Joplin. Service to Columbia and Jefferson City was eliminated.

All the communities involved filed protests with the CAB and it rescinded its order. It said it also will consider charges both air lines employed questionable tactics in their fight for the St. Louis-Tulsa service.

The CAB decision late in 1960 went against Ozark Airlines of St. Louis, which operates between Joplin and St. Louis by way of Springfield, with some flights extending to Chicago and some touching down at Columbia and Jefferson City.

Kennedy Will Use Navy Medical Center

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy will use the Naval Medical Center in case of illness, his White House doctor confirmed Wednesday. ## Weatherman Quits After 12 Year Job

NEW YORK (AP)—"There probably will be a million people glad to see me retire," said Ernest J. Christie. "They think if I leave, the weather will improve. Honest they do."

The appraisal was more in the nature of reflection than a forecast. Christie was in a reflective mood.

He retires Friday after 12 years of predicting the weather in the New York metropolitan area—a choice meteorological puzzle where a 10th of the country's population is prepared to regard a faulty forecast as a personal affront.

Christie feels most people just expect too much of the weatherman—especially in this bailiwick which he calls a breeding ground for low pressure systems.

He says nearly every weatherman, because of some quirk in his particular area, feels he has the country's toughest forecasting job.

"Our own problem is that you don't have a chance to watch a new system developing," he says. "It develops right on top of you."

This year they have been developing fast and furiously—one of the most severe winters New Yorkers can recall.

Of greater concern to Christie, however, has been the responsibility of calling the weather shots for the biggest U.S. city. He said he had contemplated it long and often over the past dozen years.

"I don't think we take any greater care in our computations than meteorologists any place else," he says. "But we do take extreme caution in phrasing our forecasts so they include everything we know but won't be misinterpreted."

Christie has been predicting the weather in a lot of places in his 30 years with the Weather Bureau—South Dakota, Missouri, Connecticut—and has heard all the tired wisecracks.

At 58, he "still has some good years left" and plans to devote them to applied meteorology—helping businessmen solve problems involving the weather.

Make Start In Forming A Teen Town

A start on organizing a teen town, at Windsor, to provide recreation for those of high school age was made Saturday at a meeting in the American Legion Hall called by Eldon Houseworth and Quinton Schroeder and attended by about 20 young people.

In the discussion the young people pointed out there was nothing to do at night except to sit at home and watch television. They expressed a willingness to work to raise funds for such a project and to help get a place ready in which to have a teen town.

The American Legion has tentatively offered the use of its large meeting room for a teen town if those interested will work with Legion members to put it into shape for such use. The Legion has the paint for redecorating the room and members will join with interested young people in the painting. A new floor will be needed if there is to be dancing, according to Harry Ordway, post commander. It is estimated material for the flooring will cost about $300.

It is hoped to have another meeting Feb. 11, according to Mr. Houseworth, which parents and young people both will be urged to attend. An organization to work out details and operate the teen town will be formulated at that time.

Tom Penrose and Kay Gladfelter, high school students, were named as a committee to write to teen towns in Boonville, Clinton, Warrensburg, among other towns having teen towns, to find how they were organized and are being operated. This information is to be presented at the Feb. 11 meeting.

It was suggested at the meeting that students sponsor a series of activities such as car wash days, and bake sales, to raise funds for the proposed teen town.

Efforts have been started to secure a juke box.

The interest in a teen town in Windsor has increased following the discovery recently of a youth ring which had been taking gasoline from cars at night. Many not involved were quick to point out the lack of recreational facilities in the community which started many parents to thinking about the problem.

Rising Costs May Cause Cut in Free VA Treatment

By FRANK CAREY
Associated Press Science Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nearly half a million American veterans are receiving free medical treatment, under the government's far-flung Veterans Administration, for ailments and disabilities having no connection with their service in uniform.

Such benefits are legal, approved by Congress, and have existed since World War I.

But the snowballing cost of free medical aid for the nation's aging veteran population, viewed against a background of huge defense outlays and rising federal expenditures, may prompt the new 87th Congress to take a harder look at the VA's free-treatment policies.

Are American taxpayers being victimized by a "gigantic giveaway" to pay for the care of war veterans who have nonservice-connected disabilities?

Are VA medical costs excessive and would it be cheaper for the government to pay for the care of veterans in private hospitals?

The American Medical Association's Council on Federal Medical Services says the answer to both these questions is yes. The Veterans Administration says no.

Allegations aired in Congress and elsewhere also claim that significant numbers of ineligible veterans are chiseling and lying in order to get free VA hospital care—including some "who drive up to VA hospitals in their own Cadillacs... and (others) who enter with several thousand dollars in their pockets."

VA officials promptly declared that all studies made by themselves and by others indicate that "chiseling" is practiced by only half of one per cent of the thousands of nonservice-connected cases handled annually by VA.

Under present law, veterans with nonservice-connected ailments may get free care in VA hospitals if beds are available and the veteran signs an affidavit that he is unable to pay for his own medical care.

Many private doctors object to Uncle Sam's paying the bills for nonservice-connected cases. The Maryland State Medical Society has urged the American Medical Association to seek a full-dress congressional hearing on the subject. The Marylanders contend nonservice-connected cases constitute more than 85 per cent of all those treated by VA.

VA says 66 per cent of all its hospital patients are nonservice-connected ones and that of these, 8 per cent also have service-connected disabilities.

The AMA's policy-making house of delegates has approved the Maryland proposals but referred it for further study.

Just what is the scope of the VA medical department around which such controversies swirl? It has a $1,170,502,000 appropriation for this year—about a fifth of VA's total appropriation of $5,363,302,000.

It's a system of 173 hospitals spread throughout the country, plus approximately 199 outpatient clinics and home-town medical services which together provide care for nearly two million patients yearly. VA also has many research laboratories.

The medical department employs about 120,000 of the VA's 155,000 employees.

VA hospitals have about 123,000 beds, with an average of 112,000 filled on any given day.

During the year ended June 30—the latest period for which figures are available—664,714 patients were treated in VA or VA-contract hospitals plus thousands of others treated on an outpatient basis or by private doctors paid by VA.

Of the 664,714 treated in hospitals, 493,801 were general medical and surgical patients, 116,349 were neuropsychiatric, 31,074 tuberculosis; and 23,490 neurological.

The most recent cost-of-treatment squabble between VA and AMA representatives occurred in 1958. At that time the AMA's federal medical services committee reported on a study comparing VA costs with those of nonfederal state and private hospitals.

The VA had said in the past that valid comparisons could not be made because VA's cost figures include such accidential things as physicians' salaries, more varied staffs, differed administrative methods, complete rehabilitation of the patient, and even recreational programs.

So, the AMA committee said, its study "attempted to derive adjusted cost data covering only those VA services which may be considered common to all hospitals."

Their conclusion was that "after 'extra' VA services have been excluded, the average case costs three times as much as the average nonfederal case."

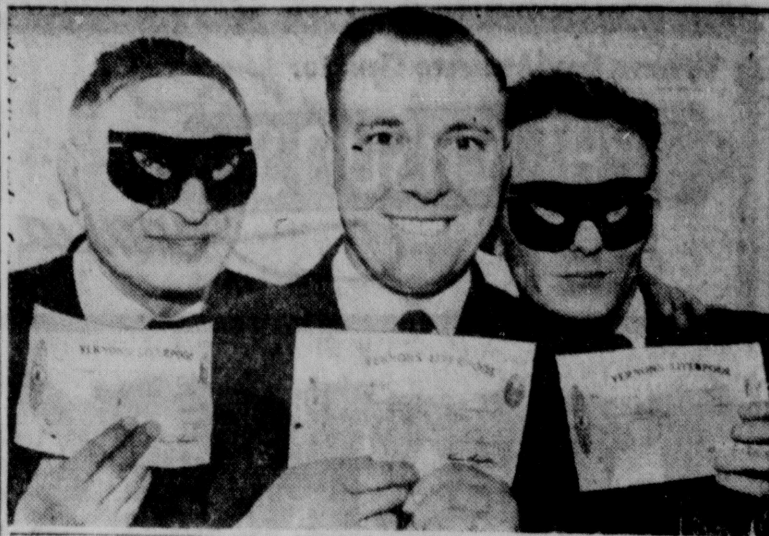

The average costs were obtained by multiplying the daily average cost per patient by the length of stay in a hospital whether it was general medical and surgical patients, the stay runs bercurulosis.

Lengths of stay are actually shorter for neuropsychiatric and tuberculosis patients in VA than in nonfederal hospitals, the report said. But for general medical and surgical patients, the stay runs about 30 days in a VA hospital, compared with about 7 in a nonfederal hospital. Hence the higher over-all cost.

The VA countered promptly declaring the entire comparison was invalid. The agency said that for one thing, "The VA has sought and obtained funds from Congress to provide medical care of high quality—not average quality. Certainly the question of differences in the quality of care provided in VA hospitals and that provided in the average nonfederal hospital are pertinent factors."

VA and private hospital costs were not comparable, the VA

Banks Going in for Market Research to Get Customers

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Now the banks are going in for marketing research. They want to know what makes their customers tick. Above all they want more customers. And they want more business from old or potential ones.

Competition to lure both savers and borrowers is growing. So the American Bankers Association is out today with a how-to manual. Its aim: To tell banks, big and small, how to find out what's wrong, if anything, with their present market and how to increase it.

This is an age of consumer research. Your motives, prejudices and buying habits are dissected and then put back into a pattern intended to be profitable for this or that industry. Banks are now turning to the technique of the day.

Their battle to attract and handle more customers is spurred by great growths of such competitors as savings and loan associations and credit union, and by such special investing fields as mutual funds, the stock market, variable annuities, various forms of insurance, and U.S. savings bonds.

The ABA's new research manual would show each of the nation's 14,000 banks how to assess changes in its own position in the competitive race and then to find out what its customers are like, what they want, why they are going elsewhere with their savings or to borrow, and how they can be brought back.

The association has been trying out its manual in some areas and here are a few examples of what some banks have discovered about themselves.

A serious age problem showed up at one midwest bank—not among the top brass, as you might expect, but among the customers. It found 6 out of 10 of its checking accounts were held by persons 55 or older and representing 60 per cent of total demand deposits. Management got busy with a school savings plan, a campaign among more youthful adults and a remodeling job on its quarters to appeal to younger tastes.

A Missouri bank found a disturbing income bracket change.

Once it enjoyed business from people in all brackets, occupations and locations. Now its customers are predominantly lower income workers, both white and blue collar. As a result, the bank is ringing doorbells in those parts of town where its business has been slipping and also wooing the more affluent.

The ABA says some of the banks' difficulties come from their growth itself. Banks have zoomed right along, especially since World War II. Many now count their customers in thousands where once they did in hundreds.

Gone is much of the old time personal touch. Customers don't know their bankers. And the bankers don't know their customers—and more important, no longer know everything about the customer's business that a bank once did.

To get back some of this personal touch—on a group basis at least, if not individually—the ABA experts are turning to the modern technique of customer research.

If it's the thing in other businesses, why not in banking?

In Clinton Play

Tigers Roast Past Holden In Tourney

The Smith-Cotton Tigers storm-past winless Holden, 78-32, in a first-round game of the Clinton Invitational Basketball Tournament Wednesday night.

The Tigers' next game will be against the big and powerful Windsor Greyhounds at 8:15 p.m. Friday. Windsor swamped Adrian Wednesday night.

The outcome of the Smith-Cotton-Holden game was obvious from the beginning as the Tigers ran up a 12-0 lead before Holden's Bob Bryant hit a free throw. Jerry Miller, who wound up the game's high scorer with 28 points, also hit a free throw in the first quarter, and that was all the scoring Holden could do in the period as the Tigers raced to a 23-2 lead.

The Tigers continued their run-away in the second period. Holden didn't get a field goal until Miller canned one with about three minutes to go in the half.

Holden's offense began to pick up in the third quarter due to Miller's driving layups, but he had no support and the Tigers had things completely under control.

Holden apparently wasn't used to the tight man to man defense the Tigers used. The losers got few good shots and frequently threw the ball away.

Sedalia coach Howard Glavin used reserves freely, with all 12 players getting into the game. Ten of them made the scoring column, with stellar Tim Morgan leading the parade with 24 points. Junior Jack Taylor and sophomore Allan Miller tossed in 13 and 11.

The Tigers' future hopes may have been dimmed a little, as Mike Wiseman injured his thumb in the second minute of play which sidelined him the rest of the game. The severity of the injury couldn't be determined last night.

Heavyweights Return Mat Action Here

Pro wrestling gets back on its regular bi-monthly schedule next Tuesday night when the heavyweights return to Convention Hall. Four big bouts are slated, with a men's tag team event taking top billing.

The Masked Medics, currently

the hottest pair in midwest mat circles, will match power measures with the rowdy tandem of Lee Henning and Hans Von Goring.

Women's action matches Pat Lyda and Ann Reagan.

Ray Gordon returns to this area for the first time in several months and will take on veteran scrapper, Bill Cole. In addition, a fourth clash pits Von Goring against one of the Medics.

The Medics, who came into the Mo-Kan area with impressive credentials a few weeks back, are making good use of them. They recently annexed the Central States team crown and now defy any duo to wrest it from them.

Both Henning and Von Goring are capable of getting the job done with the right breaks. Hennings is a veteran graduate of matdom's roughing ranks and is a hard-hitting workman. The flashy Von Goring, who with his brother, Fritz, makes up a pretty rugged tandem in its own right, is equally capable of setting a fast roughing pace.

Lyda and Reagan are comparative newcomers to this section of the country, but are well known in the southwest for their bruising battles. Lyda is especially fast for a woman and makes good use of her speed to back up her roughing approach.

Matches here are sponsored by the Pettis County Post 16 of the American Legion.

Expected To Lift Davis' Suspension

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—U.S. tennis chieftains are expected to lift the suspension of Davis Cup player Chuck McKinley this weekend but lay down a stern warning to all players to watch their court conduct in the future.

Players will be told that offensive department—temper tantrums, ball-bashing and racket-throwing—will result in suspension and a ban on international play, including the Davis Cup.

The controversial McKinley case is one of the first to be aired before the U. S. Lawn Tennis Association, meeting here through Saturday.

Today the amateur rules committee, headed by Don Hobart, is to hear evidence of the McKinley racket-tossing incident last December in Perth, Australia. Its findings, not to be announced, will be turned over to the executive committee for action Friday night.

McKinley, 19, from St. Louis, flung his racket into a crowded Perth grandstand after he had blown a point that cost the American doubles team of McKinley and Earl (Butch) Buchholz the match against Italy's Nicola Pietrangeli and Orlando Sirola.

The racket landed among some Italian spectators, but hit no one, and no damage was done. However, George Barnes, president of the USLTA, suspended the young Davis Cup ace pending an executive committee decision this week.

Hobart, head of the amateur rules committee, said he had received a letter of apology and explanation from McKinley, now a student at Trinity University in San Antonio, Tex. Also many others had come to the player's defense, Hobart added.

McKinley was invited to appear before the committee but was unable to leave his college work. He said his racket-tossing was an impetuous gesture and that he meant no harm. He said he was upset because he felt he had let down both his team and his country.

Near-Perfect Cage Teams Meet Tonight

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer
St. Bonaventure and Bradley, two college basketball powers just seven points shy of perfect records, play tonight at neutral Madison Square Garden in New York in the first of two showdowns that should establish the chief challengers to top-ranked Ohio State's national supremacy.

The Bonnies are second-ranked with a 15-1 record that includes a two-point loss (84-82) to Ohio State in the Holiday Festival at the Garden during Christmas week.

It's the first appearance back in the Garden for Coach Chuck Orsborn's Bradley Braves since they won the National Invitation Tournament there last March, including an 82-71 semifinal victory over St. Bonaventure.

The Bonnies from Olean, N.Y., who won twice in the Holiday Festival before losing to Ohio State in the final, have lost but four games in their last 36—and all four have come on the Garden court. They're a three-point Broadway pick for the Bradley dual, which caps a doubleheader matching Connecticut and Manhattan in the opener.

National scoring leader Frank Burgess (32.4) hit 35 points as Gonzaga downed Fresno State, 102-80, and seventh-ranked Louisville, beat Tampa 103-74 Wednesday night for its 16th victory in 19 starts. Strong Memphis State (15-1) won its sixth straight, 83-70 over Tennessee Tech and Army (13-4) pushed its winning streak to nine, 90-67 over Colgate.

Texas Tech spilled Texas Christian 89-75 and moved into a tie with idle Texas for first place in the Southwest Conference. Oklahoma State beat Missouri 61-55 in a Big Eight test.

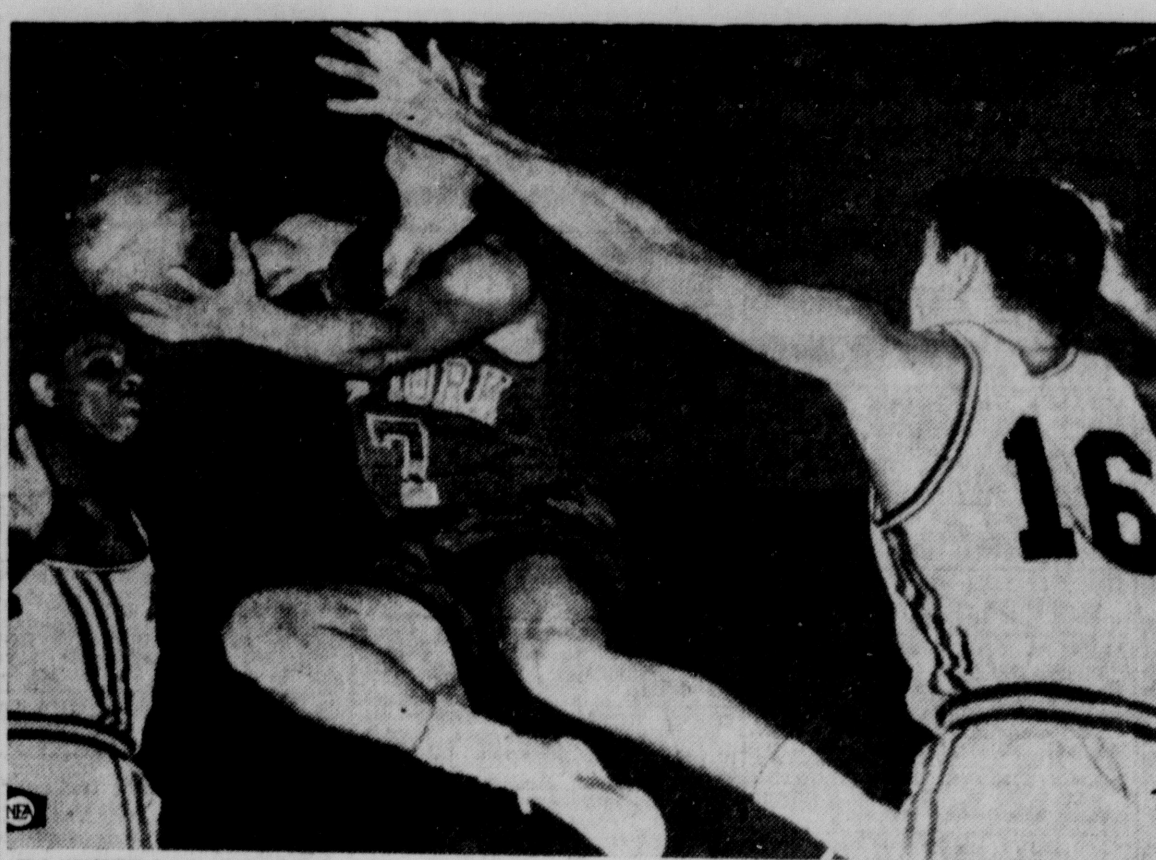

Drake (11-6) snapped a five-game losing streak, beating Iowa State 83-81. Rutgers scored a 74-73 victory over Navy.

PARIS (AP)—The jail where Capt. Alfred Dreyfus served time before he was cleared in France's scandal of military espionage and anti-Semitism at the turn of the century is being torn down. ## Over 30 Sponsors Have Signed Up

29 Youths Turn Out For First Meeting For Soap Box Derby

A total of 29 youngsters, some accompanied by their parents, turned out Wednesday night at the Smith-Cotton High School Little Theatre for the first clinic-meeting and registration for the Sedalia Soap Box Derby. The program is sponsored by the Sedalia Junior of Commerce and Mike O'Connor Chevrolet Motor Co.

Assignment of sponsors was not made at this meeting, but it was announced over 30 sponsors have signed up and the Jaycees anticipate a sponsorship of well over 100 by April 1, and hope for 500 at least by race date, July 23.

W. D. Hill, chairman of the Derby for the Jaycees, told the boys that as soon as assignments are made each boy will receive $20 allowance to begin work on his racer. Assignments are to be made as soon as the sponsor monies received.

Boys who did not receive funds were registered in the order of their arrival at this meeting and will be assigned a sponsor as soon as funds are turned in, Hill said.

The enthusiastic group of boys, age 11 to 15, were presented a color movie on the international race at Akron, Ohio, and heard talks by the derby director, Fred Hill, district sales manager for Chevrolet; D. Kelly Scruton, president of the Missouri Sports-writers Assn.; and Rick Fullerton, Jaycees president.

In addressing the group, Hill called the Soap Box Derby one of the most "outstanding youth programs ever to be offered Sedalia youngsters." He said there was no doubt in his mind that this year's race was going to become a reality, but emphasized that support of local business men, parents and active participation by boys were important factors to success.

Scruton touched on the obligation each boy has in building his racer with the idea of bringing home "the bacon" for his sponsor. "We know all of you can't be winners," he said, "But one of you could be the one to carry Sedalia's banner to the international race and each of you should work with the idea that you... and you alone are the one to represent Sedalia."

Fullerton told the boys and parents gathered in the Little Theatre that this was the biggest undertaking by the local Jaycees to date and that a lot of work lies ahead for Jaycees, racer drivers, and program volunteers. He said he had "confidence in everyone connected with the program and was sure that the 1961 race was only the beginning, that bigger and better races were ahead in the years to come."

Fred Hill, representing the international sponsors of the derby, Chevrolet Division of General Motors, told of the vast amount of money poured into the program by his company for which there was little if anything in return, "other than the satisfaction of knowing they have helped in providing a good clean recreational outlet for the country's youth."

Receiving the available sponsorships were:

Hill told representatives of the news media, present for the meeting that "response had been tremendous thus far from various people. He said he had received an offer of assistance "wherever we can help," from Chief of Police, Ralph Hamlin, particularly on race day. Mayor Abe Silverman has also offered support, he said. Track support, a free checkered flag to every entry as a memento of the race, will be provided by Al Sweeney, well known race promoter of De Moines, Iowa.

The announcement that a parade was being planned just prior to race time and the fact that a derby queen will be selected to reign throughout the day was also made by Hill, with details to be announced about mid-May when organization of this phase of the program will get underway.

The next meeting and registration is expected to be set the latter part of February with a sponsorship and entry drive closing meeting planned for the last week in March. "We hope to have 100 boys set to begin or working by April 1," Hill said.

For 23rd Straight

Warsaw Takes Jays In Eldon Tournament

Warsaw's flashy Wildcats gave further evidence of their mettle Wednesday night when they whipped the Jefferson City Jays, 46-37, in the Eldon Invitational Basketball Tournament. Eugene and Owensville chalked up easy victories in the other two games. All were second-round contests, with Eugene whipping Iberia, 67-53, and Owensville smashing Tusculumbia, 81-39.

Tonight's action pits Tipton against Camden at 7 o'clock, Dixon against Eldon at 8:30, and Eugene against Owensville at 10 o'clock.

Warsaw's victory was its 23rd straight of the season without a loss. The Jays, representing the Central Missouri Conference, were left with a 7-8 record.

The Wildcats began a pulling steadily away with deadly shooting accuracy in the first quarter, taking a 17-11 lead. But they cooled off in the second and third periods.

The Jays, trailing 24-17 at halftime, tied the score in the third period, but Warsaw clamored to a three-point lead and held on until the quarter ran out. The Cats hung on to their slim margin until the middle of the third period when they got hot from the field again and pulled ahead by six points.

From there on, Warsaw held a lead that ranged from six to eight points to wrap it up.

Ed Scott and Ron Jenkins again were Warsaw's big guns. Scott scored 19 and Jenkins had 14. Larry Loethen and Rusty Rankin led the Jays with 13 and 12.

Jefferson City controlled the backboards, but the hot-shooting Wildcats didn't let enough shots go astray to be of much help to the Jays.

In the Eugene-Iberia clash Eugene built up an early lead, 42-19 by halftime, and took it easy through the second half. In all, nine Eugene cagers found their way into the scoring column, led by Gretlein with 24 points, which also made him the game's high point man.

Shackelford with 20 points topped the scoring for the defeated Iberia quintet.

Nearly everyone on the Owensville bench but the coach must have gotten into the second game, as Owensville walked completely away from Tusculumbia.

The line score shows Owensville with a ten point lead in the first quarter, 29 points ahead at half-time, and on top with a 36 point margin at the end of the third period.

High point man for the game was Owensville's Enke with 15. Best effort for Tusculumbia was delivered by Jim Pryor with 14.

The simplest method for gaining accuracy yet devised in bowling is using a board or spot on the lane as your target instead of the pin or pins.

The reasoning behind using the Spot on lane is target.

lane markers is that they, at about 15 feet from the eyes at the foul line, are far easier to hit consistently than a target 60 feet distant.

Whenever I bowl on a strange lane, I always begin by standing with my left foot just touching the right edge of the center dot on the approach runway and rolling the ball over the second arrow or diamond from the right-hand gutter. I notice where my ball ended up in relation to the desired 1-3 pocket.

Assuming that the ball finished on the left side of the headpin, I remain in the same starting position, but move my target a board or two to the right of the second arrow.

If the ball ends too much to the right of the headpin, I move my spot to the left.

NEXT: Bowling slang.

Palm Springs Desert Golf Play Goes On

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—Six pros who carded 65s and 52 others who broke par are the guys to catch today as the $50,000 Palm Springs Desert golf classic goes into the second round of its 90-hole, five day play.

And the $50,000 prize to the lucky winner who scores a hole-in-one is still up for grabs although Dave Marr of Houston came heart-breakingly close when his ball rolled right over the cup on the 203-yard 16th at Thunderbird.

Marr's 65, however, was a good enough to land him in a mass first place tie with Ken Venturi, Dow Finsterwald, Bob Rosburg, Dr. Cary Middlecoff and Charlie Sifford, the great Los Angeles Negro pro.

Sifford also was a near miss artist. Two putts that rimmed the cup and jumped out would have given him a 63—two strokes ahead of the field.

Grouped at 66 were Bob Shields, Jay Hebert and Don Whit. At 67 were Art Wall, Gardner Dickinson, Henry Williams, Jr., Fred Hawkins and Johnny Pott.

Fourteen more pros shot 68 and 15 made 69. Among the latter was Arnold Palmer, defending champion.

Joe Campbell, the Knoxville pro who won last year's hole-in-one jackpot, was one of a dozen 70 shooters.

Campbell disclosed that he almost repeated last year's feat on the fourth hole at Indian Wells. Mike Souckal, always a contender, was disqualified for signing an incorrect card. His scorer put down a five when the former Duke football star actually shot a six.

Today, the 127 remaining pros switch to other courses. Of the four—Indian Wells, Thunderbird, Bermuda Dunes and Eldorado—it was the latter course that caused most of the trouble. Many of the

Roszavolgyi Is Unique As Runners Go

NEW YORK (AP)—Istvan (Smoky) Roszavolgyi is unique as European runners go—he doesn't mind the smoke-filled U.S. indoor tracks.

"Why should I," he said today through an interpreter. "I smoke myself. Doesn't bother me at all."

Most European runners dislike running indoors. The smoke chokes them up, they complain.

"I'm not a chain smoker," said Roszavolgyi, who makes his second U.S. start of the season in the Wanamaker Mile in the Millrose Games Friday night. "I guess I smoke three or four cigarettes a day."

Isn't smoking against all training rules of runners?

"I guess so," answered the Hungarian army captain. "But I tried to stop a couple of times and it didn't do me any good. I was too nervous."

Smoke, 32, doesn't think he's quite ready to take aim at Ron Delany's .014 world indoor mile record yet. He's only been training indoors less than a week.

File Million Dollar Suit Against Union

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A million dollar suit was filed Wednesday by eight expelled members against the International Association of Boilermakers, charging they were victims of a conspiracy. The suit, filed in circuit court, accuses the international and local 83 of Kansas City of retaliating against the plaintiffs because they challenged a union election held July 10, 1957.

Each man seeks restoration of union membership and $125,000 damages.

Wreckers

The Luddites were workmen of the industrial centers of England who, from 1811 to 1818, systematically wrecked machinery, to which they attributed prevailing unemployment.

Warfare Now Possible By Push-button

(Editors Note: The following story was written by Bem Price of The Associated Press Washington bureau. Price frequently writes on military affairs.)

By BEM PRICE

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Warfare is now nearly at the point where one man by the simple movement of a finger can destroy nations.

This possibility is no longer a dream. For purposes of practical consideration it became a reality at 11 a.m. Eastern Standard Time Wednesday.

At that precise moment, the Air Force touched off a slender, three-stage missile, the Minuteman, which is designed to span 6,300 miles in less time than man can shave, shower and dress.

In its initial test at the missile range here, the Minuteman, trailing streamers of bright flame, traveled more than 4,000 miles. For a research vehicle, the launching was undoubtedly a success.

By its very success, however, Minuteman brought the United States face to face with a question it is going to have difficulty ducking.

Does this nation want these things scattered all over the front lawn, thereby setting the United States up as a prime target for surprise attack?

By the same token this successful leap toward the age of true push-button warfare bespeaks the beginning of a rapid shift in U.S. defense posture which may well have worldwide political and economic repercussions.

Under present Air Force plans 450 of these easily manufactured Minutemen will be buried across the northern tier of states and another 150 will be on special railroad cars by 1964. Ultimately there will be 2,000 on trains and in underground silos.

In warfare the primary objective of any armed force is the destruction of the enemy's armed force. The so-called civilian targets are secondary.

By placing hundreds of these missile silos in the United States, the nation suddenly finds itself in a position whereby an enemy surprise attack could knock out both military and civilian targets at the same time.

The entire weight of any attack would thus be concentrated against the United States proper. The same thing applies to the Soviet Union but with a difference. The United States has pledged its word that it will never attack first.

Dr. Burchard Is One of Victims In Serious Fire

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Ernest F. Burchard, born at Independence, Kan., 85 years ago, was one of the victims of a disastrous nursing home fire in Washington Wednesday.

His father was a mayor of Independence and editor of the South Kansas Tribune.

Burchard was a mining geologist and worked for the U. S. Geological Survey 41 years. When he retired in 1945, he became consulting geologist for the University of Alabama and the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Dr. Burchard lived at the nursing home about five years. He leaves a sister, Mrs. Anna L. Burchard of Washington.

SIKESTON, Mo. (AP) — The Southeast Missouri Mental Health Association was formed Wednesday at a meeting in Sikeston attended by representatives from seven Missouri botheel counties.

Its immediate aims are to conduct educational programs on mental illness and support mental health programs in Missouri. Officers of the new group — Missouri's 12th such mental health organization—are: Jack Stapleton Jr., Kennett, president; Leroy Bain, Hayti, first vice president; Mrs. Ruth Finney, Dexter, second vice president; Troy Wilson, Kennett, secretary; and Dic Downing, Bragg City, treasurer.

Biting Cold In Northeast Part of Nation

Biting cold stung the northeast quarter of the nation today as winter's longest siege of severe weather showed no signs of a general break.

Record low readings for the date were reported in some eastern cities as the cold wave moved into the third week in some sections.

The frigid belt extended over most of the North Atlantic Coast states, most of Pennsylvania, northern Lower Michigan, eastern Upper Michigan, northern Minnesota and North Dakota.

The mercury plunged to more than 30 degrees below zero in western New York and New York City shivered in zero weather, the coldest day in more than four years. It was the first zero weather for the nation's biggest city since Jan. 15, 1957 when the mercury also touched zero.

It also was zero in Newark, N.J., a record low for the date, and Boston's -3 was the lowest mark in the city in some two years. It was below zero in most of northern New England. The region, now in the 15th day of the cold spell, had a record cold wave of 16 days in 1917-1918.

In the Midwest, the icy air dropped thermometers to 19 below in Traverse City, Mich., -15 in Pellston, Mich., and -13 in International Falls, Minn. The -8 in Lansing, Mich., was a record for Feb. 2. It was zero in Detroit.

Skies were clear in New England and most of the Atlantic Coast areas but snow was a possibility in New York City.

Snow fell in most of the Dakotas, Minnesota and Iowa, with more than three inches reported in Sioux City, Iowa. The snow belt was expected to cover northern Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, central and southern Ohio, West Virginia and Virginia.

Light rain sprinkled southern Missouri, eastern Arkansas, northern Mississippi, Alabama and western Tennessee. A thunderstorm was reported in Tyler, Tex.

Freezing weather was reported over most of the country except the extreme South and in most areas west of the Rockies.

Knob Noster Garden Club Chooses Name

Mrs. Floyd Martin was hostess for the January meeting of the Knob Noster Garden Club.

Mrs. W. Porter Murray read a community check list of assets, needs and possibilities for improvement, which would be applicable to the Knob Noster community. It served as an inventory for Knob Noster and community and as a result, a discussion of projects for 1961 followed.

Mrs. T. E. Boyd briefed an article on "Fascinating Facts About Birds," from the national Gardener magazine, and Mrs. Fred Weikal gave some money making ideas.

Mrs. F. M. Crowder presented an interesting and instructive lesson on "Horticulture." She displayed any number of seed catalogues, told the important features of each, and named a number of new varieties of vegetables and flowers as listed in the catalogues.

Mrs. F. E. Lay, program chairman, announced a private plant and seed sale to be held by the members of the club in February. Mrs. E. Harold Helms will be hostess, and Mrs. Siegel Clements will be in charge of the program.

The hostess served a dessert course. Mrs. C. L. Sauls was a visitor.

Salesmanship Topic At Optimist Meeting

The Breakfast Optimist Club met Wednesday morning at the Pacific Cafe with Al Allgaier, president, presiding.

The program was presented by Jim Askren and was in the form of a record by Arthur H. Motley, on salesmanship entitled: "Nothing Happens Until Somebody Sells Something." There are three things necessary in salesmanship, it was pointed out. First, think what you're doing; two, believe in what you sell, and three, training, which must continue on and on.

The invocation was given by Cliff Barr, who also led the singing. Miss Lillian Fox was the accompanist.

KMOS-TV Group Gives Program For Optimists

An entertaining program was presented at the Optimist Club Tuesday noon at Bothwell Hotel by a group from KMOS-TV.

Program chairman, Harry Trotman, also participated with the group composed of Mrs. Robert Seelen, Jake Siragusa, Al Moore and Lyle Johnston, who presented their unrehearsed and anything-can-happen, TV program.

The program started with Al Moore at the piano, Harry Trotman with his guitar and Jake Siragusa, cello, and Jake singing "I Can't Give You Anything But Love."

Rare commercials were given by Johnston who also told what could happen when you forgot what product you were advertising.

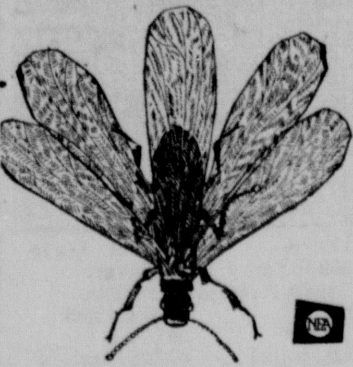

Lynn Seelen sang, "Summer Time" and "Mollie Malone."

Al Moore, whose piano playing has long delighted audiences, "went to town" on one of his old favorites, "Strutters Ball."

The meeting was presided over by Joe Forsee, vice-president, in the absence of Jay Lazerson, president.

Invocation was given by Fred Arbogast, and singing was led by Dick Witteig, with Miss Lillian Fox at the piano.

'He Shot Mama,' Little Girl, 4, Tells Officers

LUFKIN, Tex. (AP)—Solemnly, in response to officers' questions, Darlene Goodwin, 4, pretended to load and cock a toy gun.

Then, putting it to her shoulder, she said: "Bang — he shot Mama!"

The little girl gave her demonstration to sheriff's deputies who arrested her father, James Goodwin, 26, in the shotgun slaying of his estranged wife Hazel, 22, at her farm home Wednesday night.

Darlene spent the week-end with her father and he had just returned the child to her mother. She said her parents argued over their separation which started last summer.

New Leaf of Washboard Cookie

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

For a real delight make the acquaintance of these cookies now. Why do they recommend themselves? They're thin, crisp, bland but flavorful. Just the sort of tidbit that's perfect for snacks, plain or fancy; to serve with punches and eggnog at parties, with simple fruit or frozen desserts or creamy custards at meals.

How did they happen? Last summer a reader asked us for a recipe for Washboard Cookies, describing these as "crisp with prominent coconut flavor rather than the obvious texture of coconut strans."

Beguiled by the name we tested a recipe labeled "washboard" and gave the rule, using shortcut flaked coconut. When fine-grated coconut recently appeared we were reminded of the original request and put it into a new and richer washboard. This one beats the other and here's the recipe:

New Washboard Cookies

1 cup butter
Two-thirds cup firmly-packed light brown sugar
1 egg
2 teaspoons vanilla

2 cups sifted flour
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup fine-grated coconut

Cream butter and sugar, beat in egg and vanilla. Stir in well the flour and salt, then coconut. Chill. Form thin rectangular ridged cookies by pressing through the saw-tooth plate of a cookie press. Bake on ungreased cookie sheet in hot (400 degrees) oven for 8 minutes or until edges are browned. Makes 48.

NOTE: If you haven't a cookie press, roll pieces of chilled dough, about as big as walnuts, into ovals between your palms; place, several inches apart, on ungreas-ed cookie sheet. Wrap a piece of muslin, wrung out in cold water, around the bottom of a glass

Tuesday, Feb. 7 — Farm and Home Planning group meeting at George Teter home.

Thursday, Feb. 9 — Farm and Home Planning group meeting at Loy Smith home.

Young Homemakers Schools

School bells are ringing for Young Homemakers who are interested in the opportunity to attend school and study the subject, "The Art of Homemaking." This course will be taught by using lesson guides from the University of Missouri.

Topics for class sessions are: (1) You and Your Job. (2) Keys to Good Management. (3) How to Manage a Household Job. (4) The Challenge of Routine Tasks. (5) Within the Family Circle.

There will be four schools. The afternoon schools will be held in Sedalia. The night schools will be held in Hughesville, Green Ridge and Smithton.

Dates and meeting places will be announced in next week's column.

Extension Club Meetings

The extension clubs will be studying the lesson, "Meat Dishes From Half a Beef," as the main lesson for their February meeting. In addition to this very interesting lesson the international and reading chairmen will present a lesson on international foods.

Forty-five extension club foods leaders representing 25 of the 28 extension clubs attended their training meeting Jan. 26 or 27.

Tailoring Classes

The number of extension club members and others who have indicated interest in attending tailoring classes will help us to set up the meetings.

Due to the Young Homemakers School being held in February and March the tailoring classes will not be held until April and May. There probably will also be classes set up in the fall.

Those indicating interest in tailoring will receive a letter in March notifying them of dates and requirements for the classes.

Pot Roast of Beef

Use chuck rump or bottom round — choosing a fairly solid piece of meat. Chuck may be rolled and tied so that it looks very much like a rolled rib roast. Rub a mixture of flour and salt in the cut surface of the meat using one teaspoon of salt to one pound of meat.

Brown the meat lightly on all sides in a heavy or an electric skillet or a Dutch oven.

Place the meat on a rack adding two to four tablespoons of water. Cover tightly and cook slowly over a low heat or in the oven at 350 degrees. About 30 to 40 minutes before the meat is done add carrots, either whole or half, potatoes and onions. Cooking in the oven takes longer than on top of the stove. When the meat and vegetables are done remove to a hot serving dish and prepare a gravy from the liquid in the pan, using two tablespoons of flour per cup of liquid.

Cooking Frozen Beef

Frozen beef should be cooked the same way as beef that is not frozen. Allow at least 1 1/2 hours as much time for frozen meat. Thaw the meat before inserting a meat thermometer. Thick cuts cook more uniformly when partially thawed. Steaks too are easier to cook if they are thawed. Thawing the meat in its wrapping in the refrigerator may help cut down on the drip. Thawing may be hastened by placing the meat before an electric fan. If the packaging is water tight, the meat may be thawed in water. Double thicknesses of locker paper placed between steaks and hamburger patties facilitates thawing.

Thawing at room temperature requires from one to two hours per pound, depending on the room temperature and on the size and shape of the package of meat. In the refrigerator it will take from 24 to 48 hours depending on the thickness of the piece of meat.

It is desirable not to defrost meat unless it is to be cooked promptly. The method of defrosting does not noticeably affect the flavor, tenderness and juiciness of the cooked meat. The basis for deciding whether to thaw before cooking or not depends principally upon the convenience of the method, that is, the time and the facilities available. If the meat is to be cooked with eggs and crumbs it should be defrosted before cooking since coating will not regularly adhere to frozen meat. Frozen meat should be cooked more slowly than defrosted meat so it will be cooked to the desired degree of doneness at the center without becoming too brown on the outside.

To Make Beef More Tender

The most common methods for tenderizing beef are grinding, pounding, and long, slow cooking. After grinding, any meat will cook as quickly as the tender cut. Pounding or scoring with the knife before cooking is similar in effect to grinding but tenderizes meat less.

Commercial meat tenderizers are frequently used on thin pieces of meat. Much is yet to be learned about their effectiveness. The maximum activity some of the enzyme seems to occur at higher temperatures during the early cooking process, as the best temperature for papain activity is about 176 degrees. If the meat is not well done, the continued activity of the enzyme is the warm meat after cooking would break down the muscle tissue to an unpalatable stage. Tomato juice, lemon and other acids produce a flavored change in beef which many people associate with tenderness. Whether or not they actually tenderize the meat is debatable.

Phyllis Owsley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Owsley, and Phil Straight, son of Mrs. Maxine Straight, were crowned King and Queen of the 1961 Coronation Ball in Sweet Springs.

Tahiti Life For Brando, Also Lonely

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

(Second of three articles on Brando in Tahiti)

PAPEETE, Tahiti (AP) — How does Marlon Brando live in Tahiti? The same as he does in Hollywood—by his lonesome.

Brando is one of the noted individualists of our time, and he is maintaining that reputation here in the South Seas.

He lives a few miles out of town in a thatched house, open to the elements like most dwellings on the island. The house is on the palm-lined shore of the lagoon surrounding Tahiti. Nearby is another house where lives Bob Hoskins, Brando's friend since childhood and dialogue director for "Mutiny On the Bounty." There is another house for servants.

He mingles with other movie makers on the location. That does not mean he is aloof. Before the film started two months ago, he opened his home to 200 of the film company and greeted each with geniality at the door. The party cost him $2,000.

He is friendly but not chummy with the largely English cast for the Bounty saga. Aboard ship he occasionally plays chess with Tim Seeley, who has the part created by Franchot Tone. But much of the time he is closeted in his room below deck.

He reads: "I could have financed a small picture company with the cost of bringing my books out here by air," he commented. What does he read? "A lot of Dylan Thomas lately; he was a real character. Also I've been reading some Nietzsche. I don't know much about philosophy, but he seems rare—a real, biting satire."

He reads much poetry aloud. He keeps up with world news by having the Sunday New York Times (30 cents) air mailed to him for $28 a copy. He is interested in news of the new Kennedy administration.

It's not all work and study for Marlon. He is frequently seen in the local night spots, sometimes dancing spiritedly in bare feet. He is never at a loss for female companionship.

On New Year's Eve, he hired one of the island's rattle-trap buses and filled it with 15 of the native girls who dance in the movie. They circled the island singing Tahitian songs with great gaiety.

He goes skin diving and water skiing, but refrains from fishing; he doesn't believe in killing animals except when necessary.

Theoretically, Brando is only a

Pilot Grove Schools Announce Honor Roll

Honor students at the Pilot Grove High School and elementary school for the past semester were announced by school officials.

Four students were recognized for maintaining "E" or top grade. They were: Kenneth Read, senior; Sheryl Decker and Barbara Gantner, juniors; and Linda Read, sophomore.

Mayfield, Isabelle Nelson and Marilyn Nelson; freshmen, Joyce Aurig, Joyce Deuber, Mary Ann Gerke, Barbara Gramlich, Gloria Larm, Mary Long, Barbara Nelson, Billye Rackley, Doris Templemire and Linda Vernon; and grade eight, Mary Lee Schlottzauer, Marjorie Long, Katie Moore, Jeanette Brownfield, Billy Rybak and Donald Arnold.

Grade 7, Jane Vernon and Jerry Meisenheimer; grade 6, David Wendleton, Donald Rogers, Judy Moore, Daisy Schlottzauer and Janice Loesing; grade 5, Mary Jeanette Waller, Linda Wilson and Marion Cooper; grade 4, Elizabeth Phillips and Carol Jean Read; grade 3, Donald Holey, Bruce Jobe, Judy Sims and Gordon Deuschle; grade 2, Tommy Schupp and Larry Thomas; grade 1, Anita Barnes, Bill Betteridge, Geraldine Carey, Vickie Fancier, Michelle Fredericks, Becky Haley, Gene Painter, Kay Porter, Jerry Ries, Jane Read, Joan Read and Alan Stegner.

paid actor on the picture. In practice, it works otherwise. He is consulted on all policy matters. And his desires are always carried out. When he wants changes made in the script, they are made. This does not always set too well with the other actors.

Brando in Tahiti is different from the guarded, suspicious star in Hollywood. Here he will strip down and race into the surf to ride waves with natives, other "Mutiny" workers and a visiting reporter. I am able to report this: He is a better actor than wave rider.

"You Name It, We've Got It—If We Haven't, We'll Get It"

The Common Cold And How It Effects Office Workers

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—The chances are better than even that if you live in a city and work in an office, you have had a cold this winter—and perhaps have one right now.
There are two types of cold: the common cold. This is the kind everyone else gets. The uncommon cold. This is the kind you get.
Few hospitals, however, can match in pure human drama the antics of the creatures in the office zoo when the sneezing season gets under way. Here are a few familiar victims you can probably spot in your own firm:

The panic button pusher—At the first sign of a snuffle, he screams, "It's probably another flue epidemic like the one in 1918. I think the Russians are spreading it secretly." He tries to get everyone to sign a petition demanding that the whole place be disinfecting.
Camille at the typewriter—The pretty secretary figures that if she can make her cough sound properly hollow and racking, the boss will give her the day off—which will give her a chance to see an afternoon movie, or catch up on her shopping.

The braggart—"You got a little cold?" he says. "What are you complaining about? I've got sinus trouble, grippe, bronchitis and swollen tonsils—to say nothing about my ulcers. They're kicking up again, too."
The hypochondriac—Whenever any one in the office comes in with a new cold, he gets a new one, too.
The indignant moralist—"If half the money this country spends on tobacco was spent on scientific research, they could lick the problem of the common cold in a year," he yelps, then adds as an after thought, "By the way, could you lend me a cigarette? I'm fresh out."

The fatalist—"What's the use of buying medicine?" he growls. He makes out his will—and waits to see if he'll die or get better.
The glutton—"Feed a cold and starve a fever" is his motto.
The hairy-chested chirper—"It's all in the imagination," he growls. "I never had a cold in my life." Then word spreads that he must be a virus carrier, and behind his back everyone calls him "Typhoid Harry."
The boss—The thoughtful company physician taps him on the chest and says, "Chief, it might

Castro Admirer Rising

Brazilian Government Is Challenged by Red Threat

EDITOR'S NOTE — William L. Ryan is on a Latin American trip, assaying inter-American relations and reporting on the inroads of communism and Castroism. This is the first of two stories from northeast Brazil telling of one of the most critical situations in this hemisphere.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press News Analyst

RECIFE, Brazil (AP)—Here in this corner of the Americas misery and smoldering resentment are challenging Brazil's government and threatening the solidarity of hemispheric unity against Communist encroachments.

There are millions of hungry peasants in northeast Brazil. A fiery admirer of Fidel Castro has risen among them. He warns Janio Quadros, who took office Tuesday as Brazil's president, that time is running out. He warns that the demands he makes on behalf of the peasants must be met or they will resort to revolutionary action.

And on the hot soil of this cruelly depressed area, revolutionary action under Francisco Juliao already has had a few trial runs. Juliao, 45, is often called the Communist leader in Brazil's northeast. He denies being a Communist. But as a politician and demagogue he takes the Communist line and expresses his admiration for what Fidel Castro has done in Cuba.

Here in Pernambuco State, Juliao's threat is regarded so seriously that the state government is taking hasty measures to counteract it. This simply adds to the rapidly growing strength of Juliao, whose followers choose to believe it is he who forces the moves.

Security forces move with extreme care, wary of making a martyr of Juliao and possibly provoking uncontrollable violence.

Juliao, slightly built, bushy-haired son of a wealthy land-owning family, is a Socialist party member of the Pernambuco State Legislature. He has been building his organization carefully for six years. Thus it antedates Castroism, but there is no question the movement has been stimulated by the Cuban revolution.

Juliao moved in on the weak and ineffective Ligas Compostas (farmers' leagues) and organized them for action. About a year ago he was ready for a trial run—Ligas invasion of a privately owned farm. The state, powerless to do anything else, subsequently bought the farm with the intention of trying orderly allotment of land. But there were too many peasants for it, and the state bought two other farms nearby to take care of the excess.

Juliao convinced his followers his pressure had forced the state's hand. At any rate, the illiterate peasants saw results.

The Ligas grew in strength and numbers, spreading to other states. In some, like Maranhao to the northeast of Pernambuco, the Juliao movement was regarded as an imminent threat to the existing order.

Officials in Recife say Juliao had no intention of letting any credit reflect on the state government, and was intent on keeping the situation in a state of confusion. Early this month he massed about 400 barefoot, poverty-stricken peasants — men, women and children — with the aid of a few left-wing, extremist Castro and Communist admirers from Recife's university. He armed the peasants with ancient rifles and sugar-cane knives and marched them to two farms where the state was preparing to receive an orderly influx of families.

This time the action challenged the state itself. Security forces moved in, but carefully. Not a peasant was hurt, and one by one the police sent them back to their homes.

But Juliao's pressure had a decided impact, both in the country and in the misery-laden slums of Recife, half of whose 800,000 people live at bare subsistence level. The city's left-wing mayor was building a formidable political machine with the apparent intention of running for governor in 1962. Mayor Miguel Arraes' Movement of Popular Culture has been so cleverly organized that he has obliged people of all political complexions—even including church dignitaries—to participate in its varied activities in the name of charity and public welfare.

Brazil's peasants always have been poor, and an almost feudal system of land ownership by absentee owners has kept them that way. Today, however, the situation is aggravated by conditions of crisis or near-crisis in much of Brazil's agriculture, from north to south.

The northeast undergoes a major drought at least once every seven years and many lesser droughts in between.

Peasants can work only a few months a year in the dry and semidry areas, where the land, in the best of conditions, already is harsh and ungenerous. For eight months they live a hand-to-mouth existence, undernourished, underclothed and housed in incredible conditions of disease-bearing filth. Some peasants eke out their existence by migrating to the sugarcane areas for work during the harvesting season.

Gov. Cid Sampaio of Pernambuco State told me: "These people are becoming conscious of the idea that they must rise to their own defense. They are banding together to defend themselves.

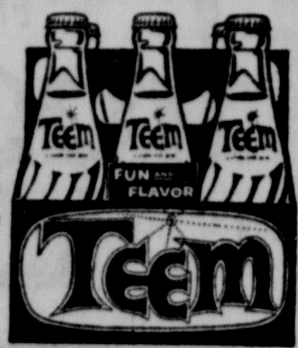

"If the problems of the peasants are not solved soon, if poverty makes their situation unbearable, they will reach the point of despair."

He believes he will be able to accomplish a great deal to remedy the situation in a five-year program of land reform and industrialization.

But five years is a long time in Latin America's new era of popular revolution.

Sedalia Police Chief Never Finds a Dull Moment In Job

(Editor's Note: This is another in this series of articles concerning city and county officials, their staffs and responsibilities.)

Chief of Police Ralph Hamlin is on his second term of office, having taken over the duties of Chief in May, 1958.

Under his supervision are the record clerk, Charles Homan, the traffic clerk, Eucl Howerton, six sergeants: James Clifford, Jewell Riley, Perry Franklin, William Miller, John McDonald and Charles Stuart; 22 patrolmen, Kenny Neidhardt, Robert Guann, John Fair, Walter Long, Charles Ellis, Lester Williams, Clyde Nicewarner, Edward Laird, Herbert Petree, William Burnham, Al Blankenship, William N. Raines, Overton Buckner, Clarence Flewellen, Clarence Harrell, Alva Lemons, Harry Dirck, Robert Knox, David Miller, Edward Finnell, Lon Maness and Hubert Mayfield; three metemen, James Green, Robert Vogler, and Larry Gardner, and poundmaster, Marshall Bryan.

The purpose of the police department, Chief Hamlin said, is the protection of the citizens of the city.

It is his duty to supervise and set up the work schedule for the members of the department, to investigate, and interrogate, and mediate, to take the place of anyone off duty where needed, such as directing traffic at a school, and taking care of a variety of other problems which arise, and there are many of them, big ones and little ones.

Traffic is one of the problems of the police department and a map is kept on which accidents are pin-pointed. When they find that there are more accidents at one corner than at other corners they try to find out why, and what should be done about it. Should a stop light be placed at that corner? Radar? A caution sign? What would be the best?

One corner that seemed to have lots of accidents was at Third and Park that presented an S curve into the intersection and that problem was taken care of by painting a yellow line down the middle of the street.

The police department works in three shifts, one shift from 6 a.m. to 2 p.m., the second shift is from 2 p.m. to 10 p.m., and from 10 p.m. to 6 a.m.

During the day there are such things as investigations, directing traffic at congested areas and schools, and various things that come up.

It is night when the town needs the most protection that it is "covered" completely by the police cars, two men to a car, and three beat men. Every business house, church and school is checked to see that the doors are locked and then through the night checked at intervals to make certain everything is all right. The town is divided for police car coverage so that a police car can be there within three minutes no matter where the call comes from and a second car can be there within five minutes. The patrolmen are constantly watching for prowlers and law violators.

The day shift, in addition to answering any calls for law violators, and other disturbances, serves as escorts, when needed, for funerals, celebrities, parades and various other services.

This police force has one of the best record departments anywhere, in which is packaged a complete record of a man's description, the type of crime he has been known for, description of his personal characteristics, his automobile, the license number, fingerprints, and technique. This was just installed last year.

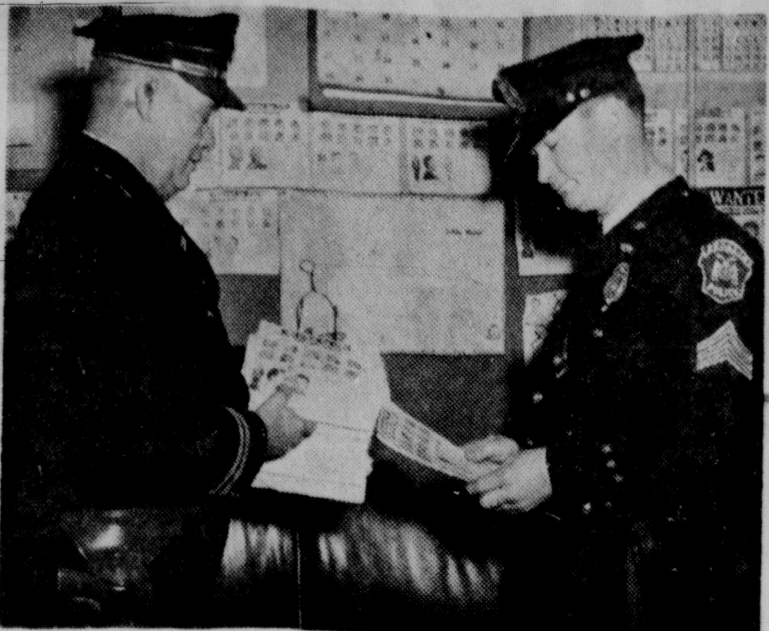

When a merchant has a shop-lifter he is shown the files on known shoplifters and he can usually pick them from the pictures and descriptions. The same thing with bad checks, burglaries, hold-up men and whatever type of violators they have.

The juvenile file is just as complete, with descriptions, pictures and confessions.

A card is made when something is stolen and whenever something is recovered they know who it belongs to. They are on the watch of pawn shops, and keep constantly remembering things that have not been recovered that often turn up in two or three months, when they believe that the theft has been forgotten. The police never cease to watch for stolen merchandise.

There are many calls made, and investigations of all kinds. Chief Hamlin finds himself involved in quarrels between husbands and wives, or other members of families, in neighborhood fights, and other types of trouble, which he attempts to solve, and usually does, through talking things over with all concerned, getting each one to give in a little. It is better to settle these things without going into police court with them, he said.

In addition to apprehending

criminals, all types of law violations and disturbances of various kinds, there are other problems to be taken care of, such as children who run away from home, lost children, dogs, kids riding bikes on sidewalks, people who need doctors, people who are in great need of other things. Chief Hamlin tries to take care of any situation that comes up.

When people are in trouble and call on the police, he said, they need help and it is his place, and the place of his force, to act in all kinds of emergencies. If a doctor is needed he calls one, and pays for him himself if he has to, but he very rarely has to, because the people take care of the bill themselves later. If they don't he calls Miss Roseanne Dugan, director of the Pettis County Welfare Office, who is always cooperative whenever he calls, Chief Hamlin said, whether it is for medical help or other help. She is always willing to give assistance. He finds that Capt. Marjorie Weber and Capt. Doris Jones of the Salvation Army are just as cooperative, he said. When there is a need they are ready to give lodging or whatever they can provide.

And so, 24 hours a day, day in and day out, Chief of Police Hamlin and his men stand ready for whatever situations may arise. The police are there to serve the people of the community and according to Chief Hamlin, there is never a dull moment.

Col. Donnell is chairman of the committee on which Bryan Howe and Ray Williams are members. Mrs. Frances Sagaloff will be the advisor.

The girls will be judged in the afternoon in street clothes and in the evening in formals.

In Kansas City the judging will be in street clothes, but the girls will appear in the evening in formals at the game when the queen will be crowned.

The Sedalia Shrine Club will buy the formal wardrobe for its queen candidate in which she will appear at the coronation.

The girls will be entertained at a royal luncheon on the day of the game. There will be a queen and two princesses selected. Other candidates will serve as attendants at the game and will be introduced.

The Potentate of Ararat Shrine is H. B. R. Allen, whose wife is the former Helen Rose Shaffer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred K. Shaffer, 901 South Prospect.

HELD—John B. Raleigh, 17, was booked on suspicion of murder in Los Angeles by police who said he admitted dropping an 8-year-old boy to his death from the roof of a five-story hotel. The victim was Christopher Mayfield, who arrived in Los Angeles Friday with his parents and a younger brother. (AP Wirephoto)
